Placement

It is more important to get the right job than just to get a job. This school is in a position of special importance and has a special responsibility for placement, because it is interested in the welfare and the development of the individual. No other agency feels this responsibility as keenly as does the school. We are proud of our fine record as a pioneer in the field of job-placement, which is used by seventy-five per cent of the undergraduates, as well as the alumni and the public. In addition to this, the school has had the individual for many years and knows more about him than does any other agency. It is thus in position to give the employer intimate and exact information about the student and to determine what occupation is best suited to the student himself.

In our sophomore year each officer did an excellent job in the arrangements for the Soph Hop. Dues collections were efficiently performed under their aegis.

Our Junior Prom was successfully handled by the class officers. For the Class Day exercises our officers took charge of the ushers and usherettes. They also were active in the Senior Reception.

No Man Is An Island

RONALD KEHOE

Valedictorian

As we graduates turn from the comparatively sheltered lives of high school pupils to the experience of living in the adult world, we can expect to enjoy greater freedoms and privileges than we have heretofore known. We shall be subject to less discipline, both in thought and in action, than during our high school careers; we shall soon be helping to elect our public officials; and we shall be generally accepted as new members of the community. However, so also will our responsibilities be greater: since we are citizens of a free republic and heirs to a free American tradition, the burden of defending and upholding that tradition will devolve to a great extent upon us. We must be prepared to take up this challenge and to serve as leaders in keeping America strong and free. One of our responsibilities will be to expose and combat those ideologies and dissident elements which threaten our way of life by tending to divide our ranks from within. One of the most menacing of these internal dangers to national unity and civil liberties is neither communism nor fascism, which are apparent and therefore easily-combated evils; rather it is that malignant growth known as intolerance.

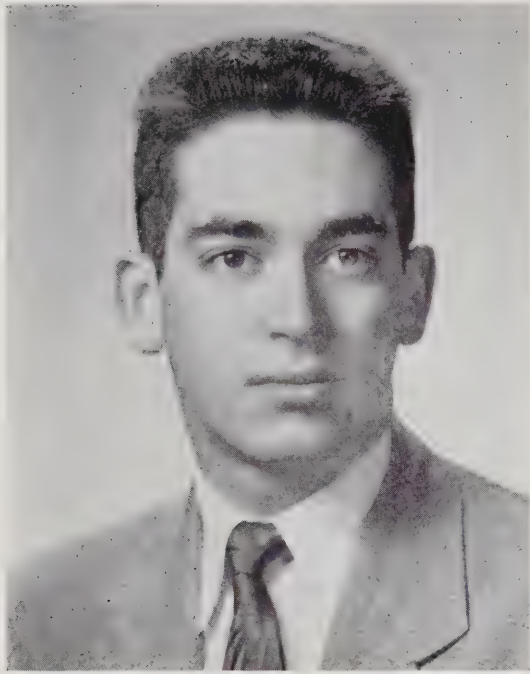

Often we may be inclined to say, "But how does that affect me—that's something for clergymen, teachers, and intellectuals to worry about." Certainly—but the fact that we are not immediately affected does not mitigate or in any way change the nature of our moral obligation to the community in this regard. We still must struggle unremittingly to wipe out this cancerous evil before it can extend itself further. We must remember that public apathy has often been the chief factor in the success of demagogues and racist troublemakers. The story has always followed the same pattern: unscrupulous political hacks have seized upon public indifference and lack of information to boost themselves into power, usually at the expense of a racial or religious minority. Adolph Hitler capitalized upon public apathy and ignorance by using German nationalism as an excuse to carry on his vicious campaigns against the Jews and uncompromising Christians of Germany. In the past, such hate-mongering organizations as the Know-Nothing Party, the American Protective Association, and the Ku Klux Klan owed their success to the unscrupulous misguidance of such normal but volatile human emotions as pride, patriotism, and crowd spirit. In parts of America today, minority racial groups are scorned, discriminated against, and denied their constitutional rights.

Today in the United States we have the so-called Christian-Nationalist Party, and Maryland's short-lived Association for the Advancement of White People, which are doing their feeble bit to make hatred a going concern. We see the seeds of it all around us in everyday life. How often do we hear someone make a disparaging remark about the color of a person's skin, or his national origin, or his religion? Although such comments are too cowardly ever to be aimed at us personally, they tend to weaken national unity and rob us of our free heritage; they are, therefore, the direct concern of us all. We cannot afford to ignore such bigotry in isolationist complacency. We cannot shut our eyes to this evil until it attacks us personally.

It is for us, the new graduates and citizens, to guard the American doctrine that all men are created equal by speaking out boldly against prejudice, by watching carefully the attitudes and actions of our elected officials, and by frequent self-examination. In this way only can we preserve and strengthen our freedoms and privileges from the very real and ever-present dangers of racial and religious intolerance.

Three Years of Evolution

About 33 months ago a frightened young man walked up Forest Street, turned in at a forbidding, ivy-covered building, and, after a moment's pause, cautiously entered. Inside, he stood, speechless, witless, and heart-less. During that long, wretched first day he floundered through halls, classrooms, and huge, mysterious passages called crosstowers, no crosspaths, or was it crossroads. The whole thing was a veritable labyrinth. It was not difficult to distinguish the veteran from the novice that day. Relaxed, smiling, confident, the upper classmen presented a marked contrast to the bewildered, little newcomers who frantically scurried from the auditorium to the gym or vainly pounded lockers that didn't work. The calm self-assurance of the juniors and seniors heightened the neophytes' feeling of utter insignificance and despair. Only one thought flashed into the poor, young sophomore's head. "Can I endure three years of this? Why, it will probably take that long to learn the building, to say nothing of the regular school subjects."

Friends, I, like you, must sadly admit that the three years are over tonight.

This has been a significant week, crowded with the memories of happy events: the outing, the reception, Class Day. As we bring to a conclusion this joyful week, the exhilarating spirit of the moment is still fully upon us. Shortly, however, when the last speech has been made, the last picture posed, and the last autograph signed, we shall come to take counsel with ourselves. This evening is important, therefore, not only because it signifies the end of one phase of our education, but also because it provides an opportunity for thought and self-inspection. A high school graduation—the time for a nostalgic, comforting review of the past and some hard, sober reflection on the future.

These three brief years have produced a remarkable evolution. Now we must learn to deal with all types, not merely those of our own choosing. Nor is Medford High School a homogeneous body. Generally, through the all-important realm of extracurricular activity we associate with people of varying abilities, interests, and personalities. To learn to get along with all these people is the great social lesson of high school.

Perhaps the quality of responsibility most effectively demonstrates the progress each of us has made in high school. Responsibility, however, is not merely the symbol, but rather the prerequisite of three years of evolution. I think that all of us have attained this trait, though some to a far greater degree than others. Again I point to extracurricular activity. The editor, the team captain, the club president, all by virtue of their positions, assume a responsibility to their particular organizations and, what is more important, to the school which those organizations represent. They should know the meaning of the word, whether it be meeting a deadline, soliciting an advertisement, keeping up team morale, obeying rules of training, planning a program, or introducing a speaker. Of course, in the end, the degree of success which the organization attains is the best yardstick for determining how well the leader has fulfilled his promise.

One does not have to be at the top, however, to learn responsibility. Leaders are worthless without the support and effort of the people whom they lead. Where would the Little Giant be without the copy staff and reporters? Where would the team be without the less conspicuous players who faithfully practice with no thought of making headlines? Where would the club be without the helpful members who painstakingly arrange the countless, little details upon which a good program depends? Anyone, by doing his small part to keep the organization running smoothly, is learning responsibility.

Extracurricular activity at high school is not the only road to acquiring a sense of responsibility. Those boys and girls who cannot participate in the extracurricular program because they work—3, 4, 5 hours each day after school deserve the unbounded admiration of all. Are they learning responsibility? Definitely! By foregoing extracurricular pleasures and honors for the common good of the family, or by working to save for a college education, and then, at 6 or 7 o'clock, valiantly facing the textbooks despite their weariness, they demonstrate responsibility as well as any editor, team captain, or club president ever did.

In short, we have reached, in the transitory term of our high school days, the state of young adulthood.

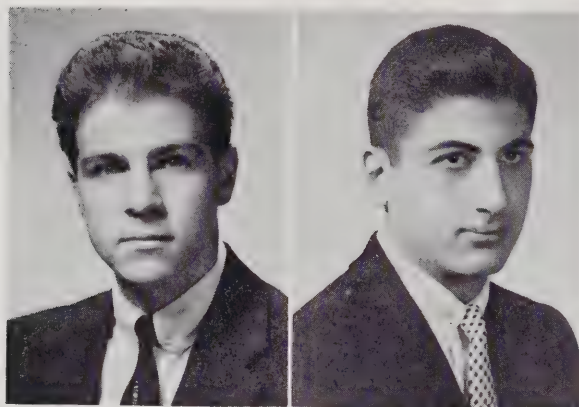

Graduations and classes through the years follow pretty much the same pattern. While this is perhaps the most important evening of our lives, to an unconcerned, outside observer graduation 1955 is but a duplication of graduation 1954 and of the year before that and every year before that. There is, however, one factor which sets each graduating class apart from all the others: the specific challenge of the moment.

There was a time, for instance, when the challenge of the moment was to invent a heavier-than-air flying machine. About 35 years ago the question of membership in the League of Nations was the foremost issue of the day. It was but a brief four years ago that a graduation speaker on this same stage addressed his audience on the possible dangers of a strange, new instrument called television. Yesterday's challenges fade into the perspective of history.

If is not for me, at 17, to define the principal challenge which faces our class. I do know, however, that the complexities of the atomic age will present many pressing problems demanding resolution. The harnessing of the atom for peaceful purposes is the great task that lies ahead of us. But this end can be realized only if man's mind and spirit are reverently dedicated to the establishment of peace and brotherhood. Only if man really desires these blessings, will he secure them.

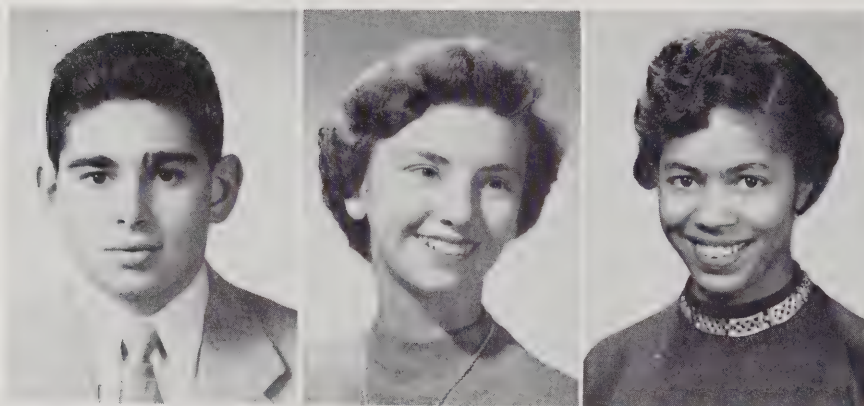

Whatever the problems that await us, we are ready. We will meet the challenges of our day.

Prom

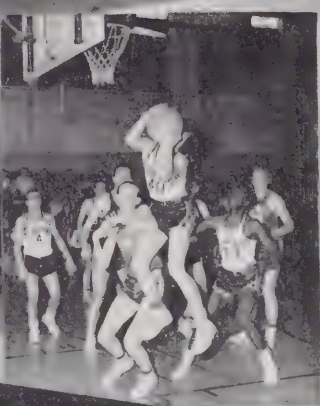

The Senior Prom in the Gene Mack Gym was a very successful occasion. Joyce Rollins and Warren Sundstrom were crowned Queen and King, respectively; Mr. Carey made a presentation to the royal couple.

We thank Miss Shirley Wheeler and Mr. Michael Gaffney, our class advisors, for a memorable evening.

Head Coach: John A. Prior

Assistants: John Ricker, Mundo Provitola

Co-Captains: Harold Anderson, Bruce Lowthers

Lineup: RE: Lyons, Wise, Korb; RT: Morelli, Raso; RG: Sundstrom, Dingolo; C: Cavanaugh, DiVincenzo, Bogosian; LG: Gustin, Hook; LT: Anderson, Devlin, Slagle; LE: Mericantante, Hayes, Daley, Wells; QB: Carapezza, Campbell, Johnson; RHB: Caraviello, Contiguglia, De Benedictus; LHB: Todaro, Peacock, Bova, Gaffney; FB: Lowthers, Romano.

Medford 7Weymouth 6

A Medford eleven downed Weymouth on opening day. Sal Todaro ran 85 yards for the touchdown, after which Bob Gustin kicked the extra point. The Mustangs rolled up 167 yards rushing. Backfield play was dominated by Bob Contiguglia, Sal Todaro, Bruce Lowthers, and Len Carapezza. Outstanding linesmen were Gustin and Lyons. Leo Mericantante had an excellent day with his punting.

Medford 0Quincy 12

The Quincy Presidents surprised the Mustangs on a sweltering day. Despite the fine play of Bruce Lowthers, Quincy's line overpowered ours and eventually gave them the victory.

Medford 14Somerville 13

Before 6,500 eager fans, a strong Medford eleven inflicted upon Somerville a loss which turned out to be their only seasonal defeat. The first touchdown featured Sal Todaro's drive of 17 yards; Bob Gustin kicked the point after. The second score featured Bob Contiguglia, going the distance. The victory was clinched by the golden foot of Bob Gustin, kicking the extra point. Line play was dominated by Lyons, Sundstrom and Gustin.

Medford 0Arlington 9

On a rain-soaked field Arlington's first score came when Gustin, attempting a pass instead of a kick, was buried by tacklers in the end zone, causing a safety. Arlington's second score came on a short jaunt by their ace half-back.

Despite the excellent pass plays of Len Carapezza to Don Lyons, the Medford eleven went down to defeat.

Medford 12Everett 7

Medford had the power to bounce back in the second half from a 0-7 deficit. Medford's Bob Gustin recovered a fumble on which Medford capitalized. Bruce Lowthers found a hole at right tackle and went the distance for the touchdown. Gustin's kick was wide. The last touchdown came on a pass thrown by Len Carapezza to Sal Todaro in the end zone. The game was highlighted by John Campbell's passes to Peter Peacock. Lowthers, Lyons and Gustin all played great defensive ball.

Medford 15Newton 7

Even in the rain, every man contributed his best to a great team victory over previously-undefeated Newton. Leo Mericantante's punting, Peter Peacock's running, and Lennie Carapezza's ball-handling were factors in the win. Touchdowns were made by Sal Todaro on a 42-yard run and Bob Contiguglia on a 1-yard plunge. Bob Gustin kicked one point-after. Red Campbell's passing featured the second touchdown play. The safety was made on a tackle by Lyons and Morelli.

Medford 6Haverhill 33

The passing of Don White, Haverhill QB, nullified the fine exhibition by John Campbell, Mustang signal caller. Campbell's best was a 35-yard pass to Bill Wise, setting up Caravillo's touchdown plunge from the one-yard line. Bob Gustin played an outstanding game even in a losing cause.

Medford 6Chelsea 13

In a close ball game Medford could not overcome a second-period T.D. by Chelsea. Great line play was turned in by big Fran Morelli, Warren Sundstrom and Bob Gustin. Medford's only tally came late in the third quarter when QB John Campbell threw to Leo Mericantante in the end zone. Gustin's point-after was blocked. Backfield play was dominated by Bob Contiguglia and Sal Todaro.

Medford 9Malden 27

The Tornado passing attack overcame the Mustangs. In the first two periods, Medford looked strong, with several excellent runs by Lowthers and Contiguglia. Gustin, Cavanaugh and Lyons dominated line play with great blocks and tackles.

In the third quarter, Malden's Brown was dropped in his own end zone by Morelli and Lyons for a safety. In the fourth period, John Campbell handed off to Sal Todaro who went 85 yards for a touchdown. Gustin kicked the point.

With a record of four wins and five losses, the football season came to a close. Individual players stood out, but everyone will agree that the fine team spirit and cooperation highlighted the list of outstanding accomplishments.

Medford 5Arlington 2

In their last pre-league game the Mustangs, led by Leo Mericanante, banged out 14 hits. Angie had 3 out of 5; Cangiano had 2 for 5. Two hits, a walk, and an error gave our boys a run in the 1st. In the 3rd Leo drove home two runs with his single after a walk and a hit had put men on 2nd and 3rd. Leo drove in run No. 4 with a single after a walk and Monbo's single; Leo's double and a hit scored the fifth run. Lamb started on the mound, relieved by Bernardo and Monbouquette.

Medford 10Everett 0

The big story of the Everett game was the pitching of Bill Monbouquette who fanned 17 and allowed only 3 hits. He struck out the side in 3 innings. Offensively, Medford continued the impressive hitting that has been characteristic this spring. Monbo and Leo Mericanante got 3 hits apiece to lead the sluggers. Leo drove in two runs in this game, adding to those of earlier contests. A remarkable feature was that only one putout was made by the Medford outfield.

Although it is still a comparatively small club at school, it is fast becoming one of the most active. The officers helped to make every meeting interesting and enlightening.

Italian Club

The Italian Club, under the supervision of Miss Bruno and one of the largest clubs in Medford High School, is presided over by Paul Perito, the President. Social Affairs were numerous in this organization. At Christmas time there was a party at which guests were entertained by the members of the Italian Club and were served various tasty Italian foods. An opera was attended in April by most of the members. Weeks of class work were put aside to prepare the classes for this one evening, in order that they might understand opera and, therefore, appreciate it. All-Girl Choir

As its name suggests, the All-Girl Choir is a choral group which has been under the able direction of Miss Gudrun E. Ekman, assistant to the supervisor of the music department for a period of five years.

The group has deservedly maintained a superior rating at the traditional State Festival held in May of each year.

Along with accenting the magnificence of the annual Christmas assembly with songs of both spiritual and jovial qualities, the All-Girl choir entertained the whole school as it marched slowly up and down the corridors, singing Christmas carols in all the true spirit of the holiday.

The club also participated in outside activities.

Band

The seventy-two members of the Band played an important role in our activities here at Medford High School. They added much to the atmosphere of our football games and were a real morale booster to the players and spectators.

The Band had a very busy schedule, having received several requests for concert engagements in New England high schools. It visited most of these schools in an extensive spring tour.

For the past twenty years the Band has held First Division ratings in all the Sectional and National Contests entered. Two weekly rehearsals under the untiring leadership of Mr. Schoonmaker have predicated a band of which we can be justly proud.

Biography Staff

Each year the Seniors fill out a biography slip for the Year Book, listing their courses and activities during the previous three years. The data appear opposite the senior pictures in The Blue and White.

The Biography Staff, under the keen supervision of Miss Daggett, makes it possible for this information to be transferred to the Year Book. With accuracy and diligence the members rewrite the copy for the printer.

This staff includes only students who have honor marks and are recommended by their English teachers.

The senior class wishes to thank both the Biography Staff and Miss Daggett for their contribution to our Year Book,—a lasting memorial of our high school days.

Blue and White Staff

The Blue and White Staff, commonly called the Yearbook Staff, is composed of M. H. S. seniors. These students are selected by the faculty. In order to become eligible for the staff, a student's name must be submitted by an English teacher. Then Mr. Ricker, a teacher who is in charge of this year's yearbook, finds out information about each student qualified for the different positions on the staff from the guidance counselor, the sub-master, and teachers. The selection is then made.

Cheerleaders

This year our cheerleaders, under the direction of Edwin F. Pidgeon, have done a marvellous job. They put in many hard hours of practice in order to help cheer our Mustangs on to victory. Also the cheerleaders played a very important part in our rallies, which were better this year than they have ever been before. On January 26, 1955, the group participated in competition with other schools at Wrentham. It was the Third Southeastern Massachusetts Cheerleaders Tournament.

House of Delegates

At the beginning of each school year, one student from each homeroom is elected to serve as a member of the House of Delegates. This member is responsible for presenting before the "House" any suggestions from his homeroom classmates. If the matter is approved, it goes to the Student Cabinet to be approved, rejected, or amended; if the matter is approved, it is sent to the headmaster for consideration.

Together with their advisor, Mr. Pidgeon, the girls and boys co-operate to the utmost with their fellow board members and try to perform the duties for which they have been elected. They have always contributed greatly to the success of the senior class by selling tickets to the prom, talent show, and other school activities.

Footlighters

Drama has resumed full force this year at Medford High, with five classes consisting of 53 people in all, each group meeting once a week.

Out of these and other interested pupils a dramatic organization called The Footlighters was formed, whose members produced "Four Little Words", Mr. Finnegan's since-published Talent Show play. They also formed the cast of the Christmas Play, "A Child Is Born," the production of which was under the auspices of the Radio Workshop connected with the Drama group. Active heads of this were seniors Arthur Carlson and Thomas Manning. In March, the Footlighters' group was represented in the Massachusetts High School Drama Guild one-act play competition. And, of course, the Footlighters formed the backbone of the Senior Class Play.

Talks by members and outsiders, together with drama sketches, have served to make the meetings interesting and profitable. The Radio Workshop, writing and producing several original plays, had a busy year.

Junior Marshals and Ushers

The Junior Marshals and Ushers of the Class of 1955 played an important part in Graduation, Class Day, and the Senior Reception. One girl and boy were chosen from each homeroom by the students to represent them at the gala ceremonies. The Marshals and Ushers are a very integral part of our school days.

Library Staff

We are indebted to our able librarian, Miss Hardy, and her courteous staff for the helpful, friendly service they rendered us. These alert girls are on the job before school, during study periods, and after school. They assist Miss Hardy by typing, stamping, stacking books, and replacing returned books on the shelves. In time hence, when we look back over the years, we shall fondly remember Miss Hardy and her staff who gave their time and service for our benefit.

MHS Journal

The M. H. S. Journal, formerly the Senior Spotlight, under the able supervision of Mr. Langley, was published by the journalism classes. It was distributed every Friday to the students of the school.

The Journal contains up-to-the-minute news on school functions, sports activities, short stories, poetry, sketches, and notes on the students and faculty.

The Annual Talent Show, directed by Mr. Edwin F. Pidgeon, proved to be just that. From "Four Little Words", written and directed by Mr. Edward Finnegan, to Nancylee Abizaid's closing dance the show was highly entertaining. The Medford Minstrels, complete with tambourines, The Collegian dance line, led by Nancy Abizaid, Girls' Quartet, The Mellotones, a dance band, and the Highlighters, another interesting band, were group numbers of high entertainment value. John Farpelha, Patty Brooks, and Adrienne O'Brien, soloists, and Elmer Kountze on the piano were singletons which pleased. Pantomimists, Joyce Rollins and Virginia Mortensen, were truly effective.

A capacity house assured the Sweater Fund of ample funds to present our athletes with their awards. Congratulations and thanks to all who were in any way a part of the annual show of shows.

Waring Chorus

The Waring Chorus, a newly-formed group at Medford High School, is ably directed by Mr. Ralph Schoonmaker. It has taken its name from the famous Fred Waring Chorus, and the arrangements used were originally composed for Fred Waring. These beautiful arrangements, together with the hard work, co-operation, and enthusiasm of the boys, lent to developing the "finished product." The chorus had a membership of seventy boys who met during assembly periods on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The Waring Chorus held its first program at the Christmas Assembly and was in great demand for concerts. In addition, it appeared at Class Day Exercises and at Graduation. With the advent of the Waring Chorus a new musical tradition was initiated at Medford High School.

Afterword

"Success is more than pomp or skill,
And more than worldly fame,
'Tis not enough to climb the hill,
Or win the passing game;
And who would come to happiness
Where love and peace are known,
Must learn that none achieves success
By cleverness alone . . . "
